

Deliciousness formulation

Benefits

Taking the factors that contribute to palatability and applying them into unique materials or technologies allows delicious foods to be designed.

Components that are important in the expression of palatability can be made

Products can be designed that match the target product quality

Our Technology

Elements that are important in the expression of palatability made into unique materials/technologies

Developed to match the target product quality and evaluated

Delicious foods

